Angel Of The Winds Arena Brings Free Original Live Streaming Entertainment to Its Fans
Announcing Live Out of the Arena, a new live streaming weekly show from Angel Of The Winds Arena

EVERETT, WA – Angel Of The Winds Arena presents Live Out of the Arena a new weekly live stream showcasing entertainment from local, national, and international artists. This free show features musicians, comedians, athletes, and more. The arena continues to be Everett’s destination for sports and entertainment.

Live Out of the Arena began last Thursday with artist Kellie Rose streaming live onto the Angel Of The Winds Arena Facebook page. Kellie Rose performed in studio in what she called her “first arena gig” sponsored by Rodland Toyota of Everett. She sang a few covers and several of her own songs including her single to be released by Sony Records May 1st. She also provided commentary with her “quarantine bubble” mates as she called them.

Rodland Toyota of Everett Advertising & Marketing Director, Allison Olson shared her sentiment. “Rodland Toyota of Everett was honored to be a part of the first Angel Of The Winds Arena Live Out of the Arena concert with Kellie Rose! Coming together as a community has never been more important, even if that means virtually from our homes. Thank you Angel Of The Winds Arena for the great opportunity!”

Tonight, Thursday at 7:00 PM, Live Out of the Arena will feature comedian Adam Yenser presented by Coca-Cola. Yenser is a comedian and Emmy Award-winning writer for The Ellen DeGeneres Show. A native of Pennsylvania, Yenser began performing stand-up at The Upright Citizens Brigade Theatre in New York City. He has appeared on Conan, has written for The Oscars, and has been a freelance contributor to SNL’s Weekend Update. He can be seen on Ellen as a correspondent and in the recurring hidden camera segment ‘Kevin the Cashier Played By Adam’.

Angel Of The Winds Arena, a Spectra managed facility, is also working with local sports teams to feature live original content with fan-favorite athletes, including from the hometown Everett Silvertips. Additional arena partners and local charitable organizations will be featured throughout the coming weeks as well.

“This really is a collaborative effort with the community and Angel Of The Winds Arena. Our goal is to bring free entertainment to everyone and also support our partners and local entertainers that may not have many options right now. We want everyone to know we are and will continue to be a vibrant part of the Everett and Snohomish County community,” stated Larissa Long, Director of Marketing with Spectra at Angel Of The Winds Arena.

In addition to the original content produced by Angel Of The Winds Arena, content created by other Spectra managed venues around the world will be featured to deliver a consistent stream of entertainment.

Weekly Live Out of the Arena streams take place on the Angel Of The Winds Arena Facebook page. To learn more about Live Out of the Arena visit angelofthewindsarena.com/liveoutofthearena or facebook.com/aotwarena
